

dinner
with friends

What has become more important to you recently than ever before?

What do you dislike that most people love?

Who intimidates you and why?

What did the people who raised you teach you about love?

How would you describe your relationship with yourself in one word?

What do you need help with currently?

Which mistake taught you
the most this past year?

What is a compliment you wish
you heard more of?
